

Global Market Index

Privacy Policy

Global Market Index ("the Company," "we," or "our") is a limited liability company established under the Revised Laws of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, Chapter 151, of 2009, known as the "Limited Liability Company Act.

This document is our privacy policy, collectively referred to herein as this "Privacy Policy" or "Terms of Service" in the following text. Our "Privacy Policy" explains how we handle the personal information you provide to us.

This Privacy Policy constitutes a legally binding contract between you and us, so it is essential that you carefully read these Terms of Service. If there is anything in these Terms of Service that you do not understand, please seek independent professional advice.

Unless otherwise stated, for the purposes of these Terms of Service, references to "you" or "your" shall mean you.

- 1.1 In the course of our business relationship with you, we may obtain your information, including information that identifies you (personal data). Protecting your privacy is of utmost importance to us. This section outlines some key aspects of how we handle and use your personal data, and you should be aware of this information. Please note that this section is not exhaustive. Additional information about your privacy rights and how we collect, use, store, share, or protect your personal data is available in our Privacy Protection Policy. Please visit our website for details, and it should be read in conjunction with this document.
- 1.2 Any personal data provided by you through your interaction with us will be controlled by us. Therefore, we act as the data controller. We will process your personal data only in accordance with this Privacy Protection Policy.
- 1.3 In accordance with the following terms, even if you are no longer our customer, we will treat all information about you as private and confidential. You acknowledge and agree that we and/or third parties appointed by us (including any affiliated companies) may process and use the personal data necessary for providing products and services to you. Specifically, we may:
 - (a) For anti-money laundering and regulatory purposes, use your information before and during the agreement term to establish your identity and background, manage and operate your account, monitor and analyze its behavior, provide products and services to you, enhance any of our operations, processes, products, and services during the agreement term, assess any credit limits or other credit decisions (as well as applicable rates, fees, and other charges for your account), and enable us to conduct statistical and other analyses;
 - (b) Use your personal data, including your contact details, application details, and details of the products and services we provide to you, as well as information on how you use them, to determine products and services that may be of interest to you;

This Privacy Policy is governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of FSC.

- (c) Contact you through mail, email, and other electronic communications (such as text messages, video and picture messages, and faxes) to provide information, promotions, educational materials, news, events, and seminars related to our products and services; and
- (d) Use your personal data to comply with regulatory authorities, government agencies, and courts in all jurisdictions applicable to our and our affiliated companies' business, and cooperate with them, while adhering to applicable rules.

1.4 We may share your personal data with any of our agents, service providers, or intermediary brokers (including data processors) or any affiliated companies located in the United States, the United Kingdom, Europe, Australia, Israel, China, and other jurisdictions, and the purposes for which these individuals use your personal data will be the same as our purposes. These purposes include those listed in Section 1.1 above, as well as processing instructions, generating confirmation notices and account statements, supervising the operation of systems, managing information systems, and allowing employees of affiliated companies responsible for jointly managing our relationship with you in other offices to view your information. Please note that data protection and privacy regimes outside of Saint Vincent and the Grenadines may not necessarily align with the system in Saint Vincent and the Grenadines and may not provide an equivalent level of protection for personal data. Therefore, we will take appropriate measures to ensure a sufficient level of data protection and safeguard the security of your personal data. Detailed information about the companies and countries involved in processing your personal data can be provided upon request, and you can contact the Data Protection Officer by sending an email to compliance@GMI.com.

1.5 You have the right to obtain a copy of the information we hold about you, related to your personal information, free of charge. If you wish to exercise this right, you should write to the Data Protection Officer.

1.6 You have the right to request information at any time regarding the storage and processing of your personal data, the purposes of such storage and processing, and the recipients of your personal data shared. If your personal data is incorrect or does not comply with the purposes defined in these Terms of Service, you have the right to request correction, blocking, or deletion of such data. You also have the right to object to the processing of your personal data, and to have any processed data corrected at any time. In such cases, you acknowledge that we may no longer be able to provide you with products and services.

1.7 If you have any questions about your rights or specific requests regarding personal information, please contact the Data Protection Officer.

This Privacy Policy is governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of FSC.